List of Medals awarded under the Gazette notice of 1st June, 1847.

It is not certain that many of the medals of Queen Elizabeth and James I., which are known to exist, were actually granted to be worn as military or naval decorations; though, from their character and appearance, we may infer that they were originally intended to be worn as badges commemorative of some great military or naval achievement. Their oval form, and the fact that they have either loops or rings attached to them, would seem to lead to no other conclusion. But as so little is known of the early history of our military medals, we will leave them, with the hope that an abler pen may some day remove the obscurity in which they at present remain, and pass on to those which claim our more immediate attention.

The first medal of which we have any authentic account, as having been conferred by royal favour and worn as a military decoration, was granted by King Charles I., in 1643, to soldiers who distinguished themselves in forlorn hopes. The badge was of silver, and represented His Majesty and Prince Charles.

It is also recorded that an especial mark of favour was conferred upon one Robert Walsh (who commanded a troop of horse at the battle of Edge Hill, 1642), for recovering the King's colours taken by the enemy, and capturing two pieces of cannon ; he received the honour of knighthood from the King, who commanded that a medal of gold should be made, which decoration Walsh afterwards received.

On the 3rd September, 1650, Cromwell's army defeated the Scots at Dunbar : for this service it was ordered that silver medals should be given to each of the officers and men. These medals, which are oval, have on the obverse the bust of the Protector in armour ; behind the bust is a distant representation of his army ; above is the legend :—

WORD
AT DUNBAR.

THE LORD OF HOSTS.

SEPT
3RD, 1650.

The reverse represents the interior of the Parliament House—the members are sitting, with the Speaker at their head. There are two sizes of this medal : the larger, in all probability, was given to those in command, the smaller to the common or private soldier.

The Dunbar Medal was engraved by Thomas Simon, who was sent into Scotland to consult Cromwell upon the design furnished by the Committee for the army.*

However, the practice of bestowing honorary distinctions for services in the many naval and military operations of our country is but of recent date. It is only a few years since a general order was granted for the distribution of medals to those surviving officers and men of both services who took part in the long protracted wars between this country and Spain, France, America, and the hostile nations of India—from the declaration of war with France, in 1793, to the triumphal entry of Wellington into Toulouse, April 12th, 1814, and the siege and storming of Bhurtpore, January, 1826.

This extraordinary delay, or unpardonable neglect on the part of those high in authority, caused no little disappointment among those who considered that they should be the recipients of some distinguishing badge or order of merit, to be worn not only in commemoration of gallant achievements, but as a reward for their faithful and long professional services.

It is well known—for much publicity was given to the fact—that the “old Peninsular Men,” the heroes of Assaye and Laswarree, and the gallant tars who fought at St. Vincent, Nile, Copenhagen, and Trafalgar, had no medals. Every likely opportunity was made use of to stimulate a tardy Government. The accession of William IV., for example, brought forth a plentiful correspondence. It was recommended that—"The army and navy should unite and humbly and respectfully request one of the royal dukes to solicit from His Most Gracious Majesty a boon for both services at the beginning of the reign ; that he would bestow an order of merit upon all officers and men who have fought the battles of their country." The writer goes on to say—"It is very vexatious to honourable feelings, when we go into society at home and abroad, to meet foreigners of nearly all nations covered with medals and orders, when we, who have had the pleasure of licking them in every part of the world, have neither orders nor medals."

* Col. Mac Kinnon, in his Origin and Services of the Coldstream Guards, speaks of the medal as having been struck in gold. He says—“Parliament voted the officers and men which did this “excellent service should be presented with gold and silver medals.” See also “Virtue’s Medals, Coins, Great Seals, &c. of Thomas Simon.”

The seven years of King William's reign passed away ; the ranks of those old warriors, the survivors of a hundred fights, gave way before the irresistible march of Time ; they who had so successfully contended with the combined fleets of France and Spain, who had upheld the supremacy of British arms in the east, and taught Napoleon's marshals so terrible a lesson, had at last to yield to the universal conqueror, with no mark of their glorious services, except those honourable scars obtained by their own bravery on the field of battle.

The clasp for the war in Egypt, ending 1801, was not included in the general order of the 1st June, 1847 ; but was afterwards granted under an order dated 12th February, 1850, to those who were still alive and had served with the army in that war.

The medal was struck from a design by W. Wyon, R.A., and represents Her Majesty in the act of crowning, with a victor's wreath of laurel, Field-Marshal Wellington, who kneels before her. The legend is—"TO THE BRITISH ARMY ;" and in the exergue, 1793-1814. The obverse is a beautiful and well designed diademed head of Victoria ; underneath is the year 1848, the date of issue ; the legend reads—"VICTORIA REGINA." It is worn with a crimson ribbon, edged with blue. The medals vary only in the clasps or bars attached, and are to be found with from one to fourteen to each medal, according to the number the recipient was entitled to, whose name and regiment are indented on the edge.

As regards the rarity of the Peninsular Medal a few words may be added. It is very difficult to meet with medals having more than eight or nine bars ; and should any of those have on them inscribed what may be denominated, "rare actions," the value of the medal is greatly enhanced. Fort Detroit, Chateauguay, Chrystler's Farm—all North American achievements—are extremely rare, as also is the clasp for the cavalry actions of Sahagun and Benevente, in the Peninsula. The bars for Egypt, Maida, Martinique, Guadaloupe, and Java, are also scarce ; the rest are not uncommon.

BRUNSWICK PENINSULAR MEDALS.*

On the 30th October, 1824, Duke Charles ordered that medals should be distributed to the soldiers who formed the Brunswick contingent, employed in the Peninsular from 1810 to 1814. The medal was struck in silver for officers, and bronze for sub-officers and privates.

Obv.—The word "PENINSULAR" inscribed:—surrounded by a wreath of laurel and oak.

Rev.—A trophy:—in the centre of which is a shield, bearing two C's, the initials of Duke Charles II. of Brunswick.

Ribbon—Crimson.

WATERLOO.

Waterloo will be for ever associated with the name of Wellington; it ended a war which was a series of victories to British arms, and exalted him to high rank and honour. It was the beginning of a lasting peace, which brought prosperity to England, and yielded many years of enjoyment to the victorious general.

It was at the suggestion of the great Duke that silver medals were awarded to every officer, non-commissioned officer and soldier, who was present in the field during the 16th, 17th, and 18th days of June, 1815.

In the London Gazette of the 23rd April, 1816, the following notification appeared:—

* Vide Sir B. Burke's Book of Orders of Knighthood and Decorations of Honour.

"MEMORANDUM.

"Horse Guards, March 10, 1816.

"The Prince Regent has been graciously pleased, in the name
"and on the behalf of His Majesty, to command that, in commemoration of the brilliant and decisive victory of Waterloo, a medal shall
"be conferred upon every officer, non-commissioned officer and "soldier, present upon that memorable occasion.

"His Royal Highness has further been pleased to command, that "the ribband issued with the medal shall never be worn but with
"the medal suspended to it.

"By command of His Royal Highness, the Prince Regent, Commander in Chief."

The obverse of this medal is a laureated head of H.R.H. the Prince Regent, with the legend—"GEORGE P. REGENT." The reverse is a figure of Victory, seated; holding in her right hand a palm branch and in her left a sprig of olive—emblems of the victorious achievement and the peace which followed: underneath is inscribed the word "WATERLOO." Exergue—"JUNE 18, 1815;" above is the immortal name of WELLINGTON.

The Waterloo Medal is worn with a crimson ribbon, edged with blue—precisely the same as that worn with the Peninsular Medal, but broader.

* George P. R. also ordered that medals should be distributed to the soldiers of Brunswick who survived the actions of the 16th, 17th, and 18th of June. The medal, which is bronze, was struck from the captured guns.

MEDALS FOR ACTIONS AND CAMPAIGNS IN INDIA.

We now come to an exceedingly interesting series of medals, awarded for services in India, from the war with Tippoo Sultan to the Sepoy mutiny, 1857-58, including the campaign in Persia, 1857.

Hyder Ali's death, and the subsequent treaty of peace with his son Tippoo Saib, in 1784, terminated a prolonged and harassing war. It appears that the supreme Government at Calcutta was not long in awarding a medallic badge : for in the same year we find that the Company's troops received a silver medal in commemoration of good service. The reverse has inscribed in the Persian language—"Presented by the Calcutta Government, in memory of good service and intrepid valour, A.D. 1784. Mahomedan Era, 1199." The legend, which is also Persian, may be rendered into English thus :—"Like the coin, may it endure long in the world ; and the exertions of those lion-hearted Englishmen of great name, victorious from Hindostan to the Deccan, become exalted." The obverse of the medal represents Britannia seated, holding forth a wreath towards a fortress which is in the distance.*

The readers of Indian military history must be familiar with England's brilliant successes and consequent gradual acquisition of territory. The war with Tippoo, in 1791-2, ended in his signal defeat, which for a time completely paralyzed his power and checked his ambitious designs, deprived him of half his kingdom, and obliged him to a humiliating submission. This war earned for Lord Cornwallis and the soldiers he directed an universal tribute of applause.†

The event is commemorated by a silver medal, distributed by the Indian Government to the Company's troops. The obverse represents a Sepoy in the military costume of the time, viz. : piqued hat, red jacket and bare legs ; the figure is erect, and holds in his right hand the English flag ; in his left is the Mysore banner reversed ; behind is a distant view of the fortress of Seringapatam.* The reverse is inscribed—"FOR SERVICES IN MYSORE, "A. D. 1791-1792." The legend, which is Persian, signifies the same, and that the medal was given by the English Government.

MEDAL FOR SERVICES IN CEYLON, 1795-6 (Silver).

Obv.—Inscribed :—FOR SERVICES ON THE ISLAND OF CEYLON. A. D. 1795-6.

Rev.—An inscription in the Persian language.

SERINGAPATAM.

At mid-day on the 4th of May, 1799, the fortress of Seringapatam was taken by storm, after a month's siege, conducted by Lieut.-General Harris ; Tippoo Sultan, the Englishman's implacable and cruel enemy, perished ; and his palace, containing much treasure, together with immense supplies of military stores and ordnance, fell into our possession. The medal, which was struck in gold, silver, bronze, and tin,† has on the obverse a victorious lion standing over a prostrate tiger—significant of the British triumph over the terrible ruler of Mysore ; above is unfolded the British flag, having on it an Arabic inscription, "THE LION OF GOD IS THE CONQUEROR ;" Exergue—

Silver Medal granted to Native Troops by the East India Company for services in Egypt, 1801.

THE MEDAL FOR THE ARMY OF INDIA.

With the present century began a long series of military operations, which followed each other in quick succession. The Mahratta war gained for Sir Arthur Wellesley a noble name, as it records his first great and decisive victory at Assaye, September 23rd, 1803. In the same year General Lake gained an important victory at Laswarree, which destroyed Scindia's power in Northern India ; a month later and Wellesley had won the battle of Argaum. Again, in the following year, 1804, Lake brought the Mahrattas to an engagement, Holkar was completely routed, and the fortress of Deig taken by storm. The war in Nepaul, ending in 1816, was followed by a second campaign against the Mahrattas, conducted by Generals Hislop, Malcolm, and Sir Lionel Smith, and terminated after the great battle of Maheidpore, December, 1817.

Hostilities commenced against the King of Ava in the year 1824, General Sir A. Campbell commanding the united forces. After a two years' campaign the sovereign of Burmah was compelled to sue for peace upon any terms. Again, on the 18th January, 1826, the fortress of Bhurt-pore, the stronghold of the usurper, Durgoon-Sal, succumbed to the prowess of British arms ; Lord Combermere, who directed the siege and assault, on the 6th of February following, ordered the fortifications to be entirely demolished.

We have seen but a brief outline of the glorious achievements inscribed by the hand of victory on the page of Indian military history ; we have followed the march of our illustrious countrymen, from Assaye's well-fought field to the complete success attending the operations before the almost impregnable fortress of Bhurt-pore ; we have now only to observe that the surviving few who participated in the first-named victory, did not receive the decoration until after a lapse of eight and forty years.

The siege and storm of Bhurt-pore completes the list of distinguished services for which it pleased Her Most Gracious Majesty, under the general order dated 21st March, 1851, "to signify her assent to a measure proposed by the Honourable East India Company, for "granting honorary distinctions to the surviving officers "and soldiers of the Crown, who were engaged in India." The following is a list of battles, &c., for which medals with clasps have been granted :—

Storm of Allighur, 4th September, 1803.

Battle of Delhi, 11th September, 1803.

Battle of Assaye, 23rd September, 1803.
 Siege of Asseer Ghur, 21st October, 1803.
 Battle of Laswarree, 1st November, 1803.
 Battle of Argaum, 29th November, 1803.
 Siege and Storm of Gawilghur, 15th December, 1803.
 Defence of Delhi, October, 1804.
 Battle of Deig, 13th November, 1804.
 Capture of Deig, 23rd December, 1804.
 War in Nepaul, in 1816.
 Battle of Kirkee, }
 Battle and Capture of Poona, } November, 1817.
 Battle of Seetabuldee, }
 Battle and capture of Nagpoor, } Nov. and Dec., 1817.
 Battle of Maheidpore, 21st December, 1817.
 Defence of Corygaum, 1st January, 1818.
 War in Ava, 1824 to 1826.
 Siege and storm of Bhurtpore, January, 1826.

The obverse of the medal is the usual head of Victoria, with the legend "VICTORIA REGINA ;" the reverse shows a figure of Victory seated, holding in her right hand a laurel branch ; in her left a victor's wreath ; at her feet is arranged a trophy of arms, behind which rises a palm tree ; above the group are the words—"TO THE ARMY OF INDIA ;" Exergue, 1799—1826. The medal is worn with a pale blue ribbon.

Before proceeding to notice the medals which follow in order, it may be as well to introduce here the Honourable East India Company's medals, awarded to native troops, for the CAPTURE OF JAVA 1811—RODRIGUES, BOURBON AND ISLE OF FRANCE, 1809-10.—THE WAR IN NEPAUL, 1816—and the CONQUEST OF BURMAH, 1826.

The medal given to the native troops, for their assistance in capturing the Island of Java from the Dutch, represents a Sepoy regiment carrying Fort Cornelis by storm : the fort is being blown up ; on the flagstaff is seen the British flag over the Dutch ; above is the word " CORNELIS." The reverse, which is inscribed in Persian, reads in English :—" This medal is presented in commemoration of the valour and courage displayed by the " Sepoys of the Honourable East India Company, in the " conquest of Java, 1228 Mahommedan Era." The legend, which is in English, is — " JAVA CONQUERED, XXVI " AUGUST, MDCCCXI."

Rodrigues, &c., (Silver).

Obv.—A Sepoy soldier, holding the Union Jack, and trampling upon a French Eagle. Behind the figure is a field-piece. Ships in the distance.

Rev.—Persian inscription. Legend — RODRIGUES VI JULY, MDCCCIX. BOURBON VIII JULY, & ISLE OF FRANCE III DEC. MDCCCX.

Nepaul, 1816 (Silver).

Obv.—Troops marching across a hilly country. A fort in the distance. Field-piece to the left.

Rev.—Persian inscription.

The medal for the first Burmese war, distributed only to the Company's troops, represents the white elephant of Ava, in an attitude of submission, crouching before the lion of England ; behind the lion is the Union Jack unfurled ; behind the elephant is the drooping flag of Burmah. On the reverse, the troops are advancing towards a pagoda, enclosed within a stockade, a steamer and force of boats have commenced the attack from the river Irrawaddy, which flows past ; in the foreground is the English general, directing operations. This medal is by WYON. Ribbon—crimson, blue edge.

GHUZNEE, 1839.

We now approach a period nearer our own times, when medals for distinguished services were granted almost immediately after the close of a successful campaign, or the gaining of an important victory. Thus, on the 30th August, 1839, about a month after the British army, under Sir J. Keane, had captured the fortress of Ghuznee, H.M. Shah Shoojah intimated his intention to confer medals on all the troops there employed, as a mark of the high estimation in which he held their gallantry. The decoration was soon after distributed to the soldiers of the Crown, when permission had been granted by Her Majesty for the same to be worn.

The medal, though rather small, is made of excellent silver, and presents, on the obverse, a view of the citadel, with the name "GHUZNEE" underneath ; on the reverse, within a wreath of laurel, is a mural crown, with the date, "23RD JULY," above, and "1839" below. The recipient's name is generally engraven on the centre, which is left plain for that purpose. It is attached to the breast by a crimson and green ribbon.

JELLALABAD, 1842.

The medal for Jellalabad modestly records the glories of Sir Robert Sale and his invincible garrison. In this instance, "as in the brave days of old," the gallant defenders of the fortress received a mural crown. The Governor-General, Lord Ellenborough, in recognition of the valuable services displayed by the garrison and their commander, ordered that silver medals should be presented to each. The medal has upon the obverse a mural crown, with the word "JELLALABAD" above : on the reverse is the date of the victory—"VII APRIL, 1842." The ribbon, which is of a rainbow pattern, was first introduced to be worn with this medal as the military ribbon of India.

The decoration known as the Second Jellalabad Medal was issued by our own Government. It was intended to be worn instead of that granted by the Honourable East India Company ; but we may infer, from its great scarcity, that few availed themselves of the offer of exchange. It represents a figure of Victory, flying over the fortress of Jellalabad, with the Union Jack in her left hand, her right hand holding laurel wreaths; above are the words "JELLALABAD, VII APRIL." Exergue—"MDCCCXLII;" obverse—head of Victoria; legend—"VICTORIA VINDEXT." It is worn with the military ribbon of India.

KELAT-I-GHILZIE, 1842.

To the defenders of the fortress of Kelat-i-Ghilzie Lord Ellenborough also awarded a silver medal. Upon the obverse of this medal is a mural crown, and shield inscribed with the words "KELAT-I-GHILZIE;" upon the reverse is a trophy of arms, with the word "INVICTA," and the date, "MDCCCXLII" underneath. Military ribbon of India.

AFFGHAN CAMPAIGN, 1842.

The medals for Candahar, Ghuznee, and Cabul, mark the triumphant advance and complete success of the avenging armies under Generals Nott and Pollock. The treachery of the Affghans and the fearful massacre which followed are all too well remembered to be here repeated ; it will be sufficient therefore to observe, in the words of Lord Ellenborough, that “they have, in one short campaign, been “avenged upon every scene of past misfortune.” No less than five distinct medals are included in this distribution, viz.—for CANDAHAR—To soldiers engaged with the enemy from 1st January to the 10th August, 1842.

CANDAHAR AND GHUZNEE—When the same person was present at both only.

GHUZNEE AND CABUL—From the 6th September to the 16th and following days.

CANDAHAR, GHUZNEE, AND CABUL—To the soldiers present during the whole campaign.

CABUL—To those who reached that place subsequent to the 16th September, 1842.

Excepting for Ghuznee and Cabul, the design for these medals is alike ; the name, “CANDAHAR,” &c., &c., is inscribed within a laurel wreath, surmounted by a crown, with the date, 1842, below ; that for Ghuznee and Cabul being inscribed within a double wreath of laurel, with crown and date, 1842. On the obverse is the usual head of Victoria, with the legend, “VICTORIA VINDEX.” It is worn with the military ribbon of India.

WAR IN the SCINDE, 1843.

The medals granted for the victories of Meeanee and Hyderabad commemorate the success of Sir Charles Napier in his conquest of the Scinde, and the unflinching bravery of the 22nd Regiment. The reverse of the medal has the words "MEEANEE and HYDERABAD" inscribed within a circle of laurel leaves; above is a crown, and below the date 1843. The medal awarded to the soldier who served only at the battle of Meeanee, is inscribed "MEEANEE" alone. The same may be said of the soldier who was present only at Hyderabad: his medal is inscribed "HYDERABAD" alone. Obverse—head of Victoria; legend—"VICTORIA REGINA." It is worn with the military ribbon of India.

MAHARAJPOOR AND PUNNIAR.

The first division of the army, under Sir Hugh Gough, completely defeated the Mahrattas, on the 29th December, 1843, at Maharajpoor. On the same day, Major-General Grey, with the second division, utterly routed a strong Mahratta force at Punniar. Lord Ellenborough ordered that decorations in the form of "stars" should be made from the captured guns, and presented to the officers and men of both divisions. The star is of six points, and made of bronze: it is studded with a smaller star of silver, on the face of which is inscribed "29 DEC.," encircled by the word "MAHARAJPOOR, 1843." The word "PUNNIAR, 1843," encircles the date "29 DEC." on the star given to the second division of the army. They are worn with the Indian ribbon.

THE SUTLEJ MEDAL, 1845-46.

The Sutlej campaign, or first Sikh war, 1845-46, introduces the great battles of Moodkee, Ferozeshurhur, Aliwal, and Sobraon. As they are still in the recollection of most people, it would be superfluous to again describe the bravery of British soldiers, or applaud the already exalted names of Gough, Harding, Smith, &c. The medal, which is a beautiful example of the die-sinker's art, represents a figure of Victory, in an upright position, holding in her right hand, which is extended, a victor's wreath, her left supporting a palm branch ; at the feet of the figure is a trophy of arms. The legend is—"ARMY OF THE SUTLEJ;" exergue—"1845," or "1846," together with the name of the first engagement the soldier was present at who received the medal. If a soldier was present at only one of the four actions, the decoration was awarded to him without a clasp or bar, the name of such action being inscribed in the exergue of the medal ; but if the same person served with the army in more battles than one, for such he received, with his medal, one, two, or three bars, having in inscription the names of the victories he took part in ; for example—the 9th Lancers, present only at Sobraon, received the medal without a clasp—the name "SOBRAON, 1846," being in exergue. The 53rd Foot, present only at Aliwal and Sobraon, received the medal with one clasp—"ALIWAL" being in exergue, and clasp for "SOBRAON." The 31st Foot, present at Moodkee, Ferozeshurhur, Aliwal, and Sobraon (the whole campaign), received the medal with three clasps—"MOODKEE, 1845," being in exergue. Obverse—head of Victoria ; legend—“VICTORIA “REGINA.” The ribbon for this medal is blue, edged with crimson.

PUNJAUB MEDAL, 1849.

The siege of Mooltan and battles of Chillianwala and Goojerat (which completely destroyed the Sikh power in the Punjaub, and subjected the whole of Dhuleep Singh's dominions to British rule) are known as the Punjaub campaign, or second Sikh war, for which silver decorations have been granted. The reverse of the medal represents the surrender of the whole Sikh army. Lord Gough, who is on horseback and in front of the British army, drawn up in line, is in the act of receiving from the conquered enemy their arms and appointments : above are the words “To “THE ARMY OF THE PUNJAUB.” Exergue — “MDCCCXLIX.” Obverse as usual. Ribbon—blue, with narrow stripes of yellow.

SECOND BURMESE WAR, 1852.

The medal for the second Burmese war, 1852, next claims our attention. Again did our brave soldiers convince the enemy of Britain's might, by signally defeating him upon his own territory. The result of this campaign was the annexation of Pegu to our Indian possessions. On the obverse of this medal is a figure of Victory, crowning, with a wreath of laurel, a nude figure of a soldier, seated, and holding in his right hand the Roman gladius ; his left holding the sheath. The lotus flower is in the exergue. There is neither date nor legend ; the only distinguishing mark is on the clasp, which is inscribed “PEGU.” Ribbon—alternate stripes of scarlet and blue.

WAR IN PERSIA.

The medal for the Persian campaign of 1857 is similar to the preceding, excepting that the clasp is inscribed "PERSIA." Obverse the same and ribbon the same.

MUTINY MEDAL.

The ever-memorable mutiny of the Sepoy regiments in the service of the Honourable East India Company brings the Indian medals to a close. The desperate resistance offered by Colonel Inglis and his little band of the 32nd Regiment, in the defence of Lucknow, is almost without a parallel in the history of the past. Who shall forget this horrible rebellion and the mighty efforts made by Sir Colin Campbell and Sir Henry Havelock for its suppression? The clasps attached to the mutiny medal are inscribed—"DEFENCE OF LUCKNOW," "RELIEF OF LUCKNOW," "LUCKNOW," "DELHI," and "CENTRAL INDIA." The medal represents Britannia distributing wreaths of laurel; behind the figure is the British lion; above is the word "INDIA;" exergue—"1857—1858." Obverse—head of Victoria; legend—"VICTORIA REGINA." Ribbon—alternate stripes of scarlet and white.

INDIAN MERITORIOUS AND LONG SERVICE MEDALS.

ORDER OF BRITISH INDIA AND ORDER OF MERIT.

The Order of British India was awarded to Native Commissioned Officers of the Indian Army, for long and faithful service. It consists of two classes. The badge of the first class is of gold and in the form of a radiated star, on the centre of which is the Lion of England, statant, upon a blue enamelled ground, and within a narrow band or circle. Upon the band are the words "ORDER OF BRITISH "INDIA," which is again enclosed by a laurel wreath. A crown, to which is attached a ring or loop, is placed above the lion. The badge of the second class, which is also gold, is similar in design, but with this exception, that it is without the crown. Ribbon—pale blue.

The Order of Merit was awarded for personal bravery, and consists of three classes. The badge of the first class is of gold, and is in the shape of a star of eight points, on the centre of which is a blue enamelled stud, bearing the words "REWARD OF VALOUR," and two swords crossed. The centre is enclosed within a wreath of laurel. The two junior classes are of silver, and are similar in design, though smaller. Ribbon—blue, edged with red.

CHINA WAR, 1842.

The medal for the China war of 1842, awarded both to the army and navy, has upon the reverse an oval shield of arms, behind which is a palm tree; to the right of the shield is arranged a field-piece, together with military arms and accoutrements; to the left is a piece of naval ordnance, an anchor, a capstan, &c., over which is the Union Jack; above are the words "ARMIS EXPOSCERE PACEM ;" exergue, "CHINA, 1842." Obverse—head of Victoria ; legend—"VICTORIA REGINA." Ribbon—crimson, edged with yellow.

CHINA WAR, 1860.

The medal for the late war in China, ending 1860, is the same in design, the date "1842" being omitted ; but in addition to the medal, clasps were awarded for the different operations in which our soldiers were engaged. The clasps are inscribed—"CANTON, 1857," "TAKU FORTS, 1860," and "PEKIN, 1860." An additional clasp was also granted, inscribed "CHINA, 1842," to such as had received the medal for that war. Obverse and ribbon the same.

CAPE MEDAL.

The medals to commemorate the success of the British in South Africa, in the years 1834-5, 1846-7, and from December, 1850, to February, 1853, were distributed by command of Her Majesty, towards the close of the year 1854. The medal, which is without an inscribed clasp, has upon the reverse the conquered lion of Africa, behind which is a shrub common to the country ; above are the words "SOUTH AFRICA ;" exergue, "1853." Obverse as usual. Ribbon—orange, with stripes of dark blue.

CRIMEAN WAR, 1854-5.

The campaign against Russia, 1854-5, is rich in military decorations and medals, no fewer than seven varieties having been conferred upon those who were present with the army in the Crimea, from the battle of the Alma to the fall of Sebastopol, September 9th, 1855. They are as follows :—

The Crimean Medal, four clasps.

Victoria Cross.

French Legion of Honour.

French Military Decoration.

Sardinian Medal.

Sultan's Decoration of the Medjidie.

Turkish War Medal.

Medals for Silistria, Kars, and the Danube, were also awarded.

THE CRIMEAN MEDAL represents Victory holding a palm branch and placing a laurel crown upon the head of a Roman warrior: in the field is the word "CRIMEA." The clasps, which are formed of oak leaves, ornamented with acorns, are inscribed, "ALMA, BALACLAVA, INKERMANN, SEBASTOPOL." Reverse—head of Victoria, the date, 1854, underneath. The ribbon is pale blue, edged with yellow.

VICTORIA CROSS.—The idea of creating a new order for distinguished bravery was originated by the late much-lamented Prince Consort (who is said to have designed the insignia), and afterwards instituted by Her Most Gracious Majesty on the 29th January, 1856. The distinction is styled the "Victoria Cross," and is awarded to the soldier who performs "some signal act of valour or devotion to his country."

The decoration is in the form of a Maltese cross, of bronze, with the royal crest in the centre, underneath which are inscribed upon a scroll, the words, "FOR VALOUR."

It is suspended by a laureated clasp and the letter V (for Victoria), and attached to the left breast with a crimson ribbon.

LEGION OF HONOUR AND FRENCH DECORATION.—The insignia of the French Imperial order of the Legion of Honour was also granted to several of our officers and soldiers by His Majesty the Emperor of the French, as a mark of his approval of their distinguished services in the Crimea. His Majesty also awarded the decoration of the French military war medal to a number of non-commissioned officers and soldiers, selected from the different regiments that served in the Crimea. The decoration, which is silver, is a small medal, surmounted by an Eagle; on the centre of the medal is the head of the Emperor, encircled by a blue enamelled band, having thereon the words "LOUIS NAPOLEON;" a crown of laurel, which forms the outer rim of the medal, is shown both on the obverse and reverse; the centre of the latter is inscribed with the words "VALEUR ET DISCIPLINE." It is worn with a yellow ribbon, edged with green.

THE SARDINIAN MEDAL, conferred by the King of Sardinia upon several officers and men selected from the Crimean army, has, upon the obverse, the arms of Savoy, crowned and encircled by the laurel and palm. The legend is—"AL VALORE MILITARE;" on the reverse of the medal is a wreath, with the dates "1855—1856" underneath; legend—"SPEDIZIONE D'ORIENTE." It is worn with a dark blue watered ribbon.

THE MEDJIDIE.—To upwards of a thousand officers of the British army, the Sultan of Turkey granted the decoration of the five classes of the Imperial order of the Medjidia. The decoration is a silver convex centre, bearing the Sultan's cypher, encircled by a crimson enamelled band, inscribed with Turkish characters, and surrounded by a radiated border in silver. It is suspended by a crimson enamelled crescent and star, to which is appended a crimson ribbon, edged with green.

The Sultan also distributed to the British army silver medals, having the royal cypher upon the obverse, enclosed within a circle of laurel. The reverse, which is a clumsy, though significant design, represents the success of the allied powers in the Crimea. A field-piece and map of the Crimea are placed upon the Russian flag, to the right of which is an anchor, &c. ; above are the respective flags of Turkey, England, France, and Sardinia. Exergue—"CRIMEA, 1855."* The ribbon is crimson, edged with green.

THE SILISTRIA, KARS, AND DANUBE MEDALS.

Silistria.—Obv.—The Sultan's cypher, within a wreath of laurel and oak.

Rev.—The city of Silistria and surrounding country.

Kars.—Obv.—The Sultan's cypher, within a wreath of laurel and oak.

* The Sultan's Medal granted to the French and Sardinian armies differs a little from this :—On the French Medal, the national flag is brought to the front with that of Turkey ;—the flags of England and Sardinia being behind.—Exergue—LA CRIMEE, 1855. On the Sardinian Medal the flags are similarly transposed—the flag of Sardinia being in the front with that of Turkey—Exergue—LA CRIMEA, 1855.

Rev.—The city of Kars, below which is the Hegira.

Danube.—Obv.—A large elliptical star, studded with a smaller star of six points, under which are the words (in the Turkish language), “Mark or Medal of distinction”.

Rev.—The Sultan’s cypher, enclosed within a beaded circle—star and crescent above: on either side are flags and laurel branches.

MEDALS AWARDED FOR LONG SERVICE AND GOOD CONDUCT, MERITORIOUS SERVICE, AND DISTINGUISHED CONDUCT IN THE FIELD.—The medal for long service and good conduct was first granted by King William IV. in 1830, to men of irreproachable character, and who had completed twenty-one years’ service in the infantry or twenty-four years in the cavalry. The obverse of this medal is a trophy with the King’s arms in the centre; the reverse is inscribed—“FOR LONG SERVICE AND GOOD CONDUCT.” It is worn with a crimson ribbon. The medal for meritorious service, together with an annuity not exceeding £20, is granted to serjeants, as a reward for distinguished service. It has upon the obverse the head of the Queen, the reverse being inscribed—“FOR MERITORIOUS SERVICE.” Ribbon—crimson. The medal awarded for distinguished conduct in the field, has the same obverse as the medal for long service; the reverse is inscribed—“FOR DISTINGUISHED CONDUCT IN THE FIELD.” The colour of the ribbon is crimson, with a stripe of blue down the centre.

REGIMENTAL MEDALS.

UNDER this heading we have to treat of a class of Medals altogether different from the preceding. Regimental Medals are those which have been specially granted to soldiers by the officers of the regiments in which they served ; they were awarded as badges for long regimental service and good conduct. It does not, however, appear that the distribution of such medals always received the sanction of government ;* in the majority of instances where Regimental Medals have been granted, the distribution has been merely of a private character, originating with the officers themselves. The number of regiments which have awarded medals is but limited, and, as far as I have been able to learn, may be enumerated as follows :—10th Hussars, 16th Lancers, 22nd Light Dragoons, 2nd Foot, 3rd, 5th, 7th, 9th, 13th, 22nd, 23rd, 26th, 32nd, 37th, 40th, 42nd, 45th, 48th, 52nd, 55th, 71st, 73rd, 74th, 77th, 79th, 88th, 94th, 97th, 2nd West India Regiment, Ceylon Rifles, 16th Foot, Temperance Medal.

NAVAL MEDALS.

WITH the Commonwealth we commence our series of Naval Decorations. During the Protectorate it appears that the Lord Protector, in order to promote and encourage great naval successes, distributed gold and silver medals to those of his captains who had distinguished themselves at sea.* The first is for an engagement, July and August, 1650.

Obv.—An anchor—from the beam of which are suspended two shields, bearing the arms of England (St. George's Cross) and Ireland (Harp). A cord or hawser surrounding; above is the word MERUITI.

Rev.—A naval engagement—above which are the words—SERVICE DONE AGAINST SIX SHIPS, JULY. Y. XXXI. & AUGUST. Y. I. 1650.

This medal is oval, and was struck in gold and silver.

* VIRTUE, in his Medals and Coins of Thomas Simon, says that—“Another laudable encouragement given to persons of merit in the “service of the Commonwealth, especially sea officers, was by public honour in chains of gold, with medals appendant thereto, to be “constantly worn. Many of these were given by order of the “Council of State, and by the hands of Oliver, Lord Protector.

ADMIRAL BLAKE'S MEDAL.

This medal was awarded to Admiral Blake for his great victory over the celebrated Dutch Naval Commander, Van Tromp, July, 1653. The medal is of gold, and oval in shape.

Obv.—An anchor, from the beam of which are suspended three shields, bearing the arms of England (St. George's Cross); Scotland (the Cross of St. Andrew); and Ireland (Harp). A cord or hawser surrounding. The group is enclosed within a wide border, ornamented with naval trophies, into which are introduced two shields, each bearing a lion rampant.

Rev.—A number of ships in action. Enclosed within a border similar in character to that on the obverse, though without the lions rampant.

There is another medal in gold, somewhat similar to the preceding, but without the ornamental border.

Obv.—An anchor with the usual shields of arms, &c.

Rev.—A sea fight—above which is inscribed—FOR EMINENT SERVICE IN SAVING Y TRIUMPE FIRED IN FIGHT W Y DVCH IN JULY, 1653.

Upon the reverse of another, much smaller in size than any of the preceding, there is a representation of the Rump Parliament. The word MERVISTI is above the anchor on obverse.

From Cromwell's time almost down to the present, there does not appear to have been any general distribution of medals. It is true that many have been struck commemorative of great naval victories; but as they were not intended to be worn as decorations we will not introduce them into our list. Many honorary distinctions in gold have also been especially awarded to single individuals, such as captains of ships, commanders of successful expeditions, &c: these also we shall pass by, referring the reader to Sir Harris Nicolas' list of gold medals which have been distributed to the two branches of the service.*

For the victories of the Nile and Trafalgar, two private gentlemen, Messrs. Davison and Boulton, presented medals to every officer and seaman engaged. These medals, it appears, were highly prized by the recipients, and were actually worn as decorations. The medal given by Mr. Davison was in gold for captains; in silver for lieutenants and warrant officers; in bronze gilt for petty officers; and in bronze for seamen and marines.†

Obv.—A figure standing upon a rock, holding an olive branch and displaying the bust of Nelson upon a shield. Around the bust are the words—EUROPE'S HOPE AND BRITAIN'S GLORY. Behind the figure is an anchor, and the sea in the distance. Legend—REAR-ADMIRAL LORD NELSON OF THE NILE.

Rev.—The British fleet sailing into the bay of Aboukir at sunrise. Legend—ALMIGHTY GOD HAS BLESSED HIS MAJESTY'S ARMS. Exergue—VICTORY OF THE NILE, AUGUST 1, 1798. On the edge of the medal there is the following :—FROM ALEXANDER

* Sir N. Harris Nicolas' History of the Orders of Knighthood. See also Carter's Medals of the British Army.

† See Southey's Life of Lord Nelson.

DAVISON, ESQ., ST. JAMES'S SQUARE. A TRIBUTE OF REGARD.

BOULTON'S TRAFALGAR MEDAL.

Obv.—Bust of Nelson. Legend—HORATIO VISCOUNT NELSON, K.B., DUKE OF BRONTE.

Rev.—The Battle of Trafalgar. Legend—ENGLAND
EXPECTS EVERY MAN TO DO HIS DUTY. Exergue—
TRAFALGAR, OCT. 21, 1805.

This medal was struck in silver, bronze-gilt, bronze, and white metal.

EARL ST. VINCENT'S MEDAL.

Obv.—Bust of Earl St. Vincent, surrounded by a laurel wreath. Legend—EARL ST. VINCENT'S
TESTIMONY OF APPROBATION, 1800.

Rev.—A sailor and marine joining hand in hand, within a wreath of oak. The outlines of a Union Jack may be traced, covering the field of the medal, upon which are the words—LOYAL AND TRUE. There is a crown above the word AND.

LONG SERVICE MEDALS, &c.

This medal was first granted in 1831, to seamen and marines who had served above twenty-one years. It was usual for the captain to select from among his crew such as were deserving of the reward. The person so selected was presented with the medal, and a gratuity according to his rating.

Obv.—A crown and anchor, surrounded by oak branches.

Rev.—The recipient's name, engraved; the name of his ship, and the number of years' service.

Legend—FOR LONG SERVICE AND GOOD CONDUCT.

Ribbon—Blue.

The Navy Long Service Medal at present awarded to seamen, is somewhat different to the preceding.

Obv.—Head of Victoria. Legend—VICTORIA REGINA.

Rev.—A line of battle ship. Legend—FOR LONG SERVICE AND GOOD CONDUCT. The sailor's name and ship are engraved on the edge.

The Meritorious Service Medal is awarded to sergeants of marines. It is worn with a blue ribbon (see page 30). The medal given for bravery is inscribed—FOR CONSPICUOUS GALLANTRY.

Obv.—The usual diademed head of Her Majesty.

Ribbon—Blue, with a stripe of white down the centre.

THE SULTAN'S MEDAL FOR THE CAMPAIGN IN SYRIA, 1840.

This medal was given in gold to officers ranking with field-officers; in silver to quarter-deck and warrant officers; and in copper to petty officers, seamen, marines, and boys.

Obv.—A fortress with flagstaff and Turkish ensign.

Above are six stars; below, a Turkish inscription, and the Hegira.

Rev.—The Sultan's cypher, surrounded by a laurel wreath.

Ribbon—Red, edged with white.

FOR ARCTIC DISCOVERY.

The medal presented to those who were engaged in Arctic discovery is octagonal.

Obv.—Head of the Queen. Legend—VICTORIA REGINA.

Rev.—A ship fixed in ice, with icebergs on either side. In the foreground a number of sailors are drawing a sledge;—above are the words—FOR ARCTIC DISCOVERIES. Exergue—1818—1855. The medal is surmounted by a star, to which is fixed a ring for suspension. The ribbon is white. CHINA, 1842. Similar to the Medal for the Army (see p. 25).

THE RUSSIAN WAR, 1854–5.

Baltic Medal.—Obv.—Head of Victoria, &c.

Rev.—Britannia seated, with uplifted trident. She appears to be on “the look-out,” as her gaze is directed towards the fortresses of Sveaborg and Bomarsund. Above is the word BALTIC. Exergue—1854—1855.

Ribbon—Yellow, edged with blue.

For operations in the Black Sea our sailors received a medal similar to that distributed to the Army. To those who served in the Sea of Azoff a clasp was granted, inscribed “Azoff,” which clasp was not bestowed on the Army.

The Turkish General Service Medal was also given to a few for service on the Danube (see Danube Medal, p. 29). The Turkish Crimean Medal was also awarded to the Royal Navy (see p. 26).

Medals for “PERSIA,” “PEGU,” and the “MUTINY,” have been distributed to the Naval Brigade there employed. They are precisely the same as those received by the Army.

For the war in China, 1857-60, the "clasps" are inscribed "FATSHAN"—"CANTON, 1857—TAKU FORTS, 1858."

THE H. E. I. Co.'s LONG SERVICE MEDAL

Obv.—Head of Queen. Legend—VICTORIA REGINA.

Rev.—A crown and anchor; oak branches on either side. Legend—FOR LONG SERVICE AND GOOD CONDUCT.

THE SULTAN'S GOLD MEDAL FOR EGYPT, 1801.

There are three sizes of this medal, the largest, which weighs close upon an ounce, is in the collection of Mr. T. L. Whitehouse. The two smaller weigh respectively 12 dwts. 18 grs., and 8 dwts. 18 grs.*

Obv.—A crescent and star of eight points, surrounded by an ornamented border.

Rev.—The Sultan's cypher, surrounded by an ornamented border, into which is introduced the date 1801.

The medals are the same in type, the only difference being in size. They are attached to the breast by a small chain and hook.

MEDAL AWARDED TO R.N. ENGINEERS.

This medal was first granted about the year 1842; it was discontinued in 1847, when the rank of Engineers was raised to that of Officers.

Obv.—A two-masted paddle-steamer—a trident in exergue.

Rev.—An anchor, crown above. Legend—FOR ABILITY AND GOOD CONDUCT.

* The smaller sizes are in the Author's Collection.
